A Week On The Concord And Merrimack Rivers

30-33	On fish
67	What have I do to with ploughs
82	Men reverence one another, not yet God
92	Golden Rule
122-123	Good books
132-134	Writing: every sentence is the result of long probation
162	Escape from reformers
164	Men do not fail for want of knowledge but prudence
166	A man is not his hope, nor his dispair
168	While the law holds fast the thief and murderer, it lets itself go loose.
180	Let the motive be in the deed and not in the event
199	The newest is but the oldest made visible to our senses
221	Grave stones
227	Music
239	Being lost
255	Chipmunk
317	Poem: My life is like a stroll upon the beach
320	Islands
326	On pot-holes and weathering
395	Surely one may as profitably be soaked in the juices of a swamp for one day as pick his way dry-shod over sand.
407	The complainer
416	Art, Nature and Man
419-420	Art and Nature again
433	Poetry
433	Man of genius, artist artisan
438	Wind of night
461	What I see is mine
463	Unchangeableness
