Dear Dr. Porter:

We are putting together a calendar for 1970. It will be distributed by Ballentine in much the same way as the Sierra Club Calendar. We are planning to use your photograph of the redbud in the Red River Gorge and are offering $200 in payment. Would you please sign one copy of the enclosed release and return to me. It would also be helpful to have the original transparency on hand for the printer to use for color comparison--we are using the separations that were made for the magazine.

With all good wishes.

Sincerely,

Ann Guilfoyle

Dear Dr. Porter:

It is understood that AUDUBON has the exclusive calendar rights to your photograph of redbuds in the Red River Gorge. This picture will appear in our 1970 calendar. It is understood that the National Audubon Society will copyright this photograph but said copyright will not limit any future sales of your photo by you for any noncalendar purposes. It is further understood that you have the right to grant these rights. We are paying $200 for the use of the above-mentioned photograph and proper credit will be given.
