Dear Mr. Davies:

Thank you for sending me a copy of your article
VERSATILITY SELLS THE PHOTOMURAL.

On the second line of page 1 the word spinter occurs, which I supposed is a typographical misspelling of splinter.

On page 3, after describing the decoration of 12 floors of the new Independent Life Insurance Building of Jacksonville, Florida, you go on to say that 160 color prints were installed at a cost of $40,000 and that Dr.
Porter's royalty for one-time use of his originals was several thousand dollars.

This statement is an exaggeration and should be deleted unless through an inadvertence or for other reasons
I have not yet been fully remunerated.

According to my records I have received the following royalty payments from Meisel:

Sept. 26, 1975	$ 450.00
June 4, 1976	1020.00	Jacksonville project
June 21, 1977	750.00
Feb. 4, 1977	270.00
Feb. 22, 1977	60.00

Yours sincerely,

Phil Porter
