Dear Mr. Porter:

I haven't heard yet from Sierra or Brower about my last letter. But in the meantime, Mr. Wilentz has been in about another matter, rather smaller, and I don't know whether it is worthwhile making a fuss about the price offer. He says all the other photographers have accepted. But at any rate, they had a 1968 calendar which used four of your photographs and they are offering $100 apiece for these four photos. The sale of the calendar, he tells me, was not very large, under 10,000. They are also embarked on a 1969 calendar in which they propose to use 6 of your pictures, each covering a page of the calendar, and one small 4x4 picture which would be at the back of the calendar. For these they propose to pay $1250. Without knowing too much about prices for photographs, it seems to me that these are fair. Would you let me know quickly please, since Wilentz says there is a matter of urgency, as to how you feel about these offers.

Yours sincerely,

Diarmuid Russell
