Dear Mr. Porter:

I have been calling each morning and afternoon--and Mr. Brower never appears to be there and I think this is true for the girl doesn't ask for my name, just calls around and gets the word. But each time I have left my name and telephone number and have had no return call. The apartment phone doesn't answer at all. Possibly he is very busy but I think at some point he must have got the word to call and since I left word as to what it refers to I have a feeling he just doesn't want to call. So I still have a note for June 21 to write you if no copies have come here and if they come to you then you will be sending them along.

Perhaps he is feeling irritable about your using an agent--but at some point he will have to respond

yours sincerely
