

K Σ

Kappa Sigma

Colorado School of Mines

Bill Gordon

Thanks for writing. I bought a shotgun and it has outside hammers and double triggers. It is a 20ga. (I wanted a 12, but this gun is brand new) I think I'll have the chambers bored to take 3" shells. It is really a fine gun except that the stock is too small and too "English" for me. The gun is pretty light and the sharp comb just about cuts my fucking face when I shoot it. It's an Italian gun with Greener lock and 28" barrels. I might get some 30" barrels with the 3" chambers to hunt ducks, dogs, niggers, etc. (anything where a larger than normal load is required)

If Truelson pledges KΣ I only hope they give him Hell during his pledge term. That picture sounds cool. I am hoping you will send it to me. I guess I'll have to write Truelson and ridicule him for being cross-eyed. Enclosed are two pictures - one being of your Dad's worthless pile of junk - the other of my Old Man's proudest new possession. If you want the picture of me autographed, I'll be glad to for a nominal fee.

- 2 -

Well, I ran out another room-mate, and once again I am alone. Some of the clods on the 1st floor of this dorm. who don't appreciate genius are trying to petition my guitar into confiscation. Of course this only induces me to turn the amp. volume up a few notches and rattle windows - My grades are good as Hell.

The other day I decided to engrave a guy's gun for him. After designing an elaborate scroll surrounding a well formed  I etched it thru the alcohol-methyl-violet, shellac coating we had put on the gun. Then I stole some 16N  $\text{HNO}_3$  from Chem Lab and proceeded to pour it on the gun, the principle being to eat out the metal not coated by shellac. Well, the acid must have been a little too concentrated 'cause it not only ate thru the shellac and the gun, but also the floor. Send me a tape & tell me about Mardi Gras. When are you going to be in F.W.? Rest in Peace and I'll see you soon.

PS -> If you would send me some of them stock catalogs, I'd appreciate it.

Sincerely,
LSD

Air Mail

Stu Gentling
367 Bechtel House
31 McAllister
New Orleans, Louisiana