

Stuart,

3/22/62

As much as I hate to admit it you are the last person I expected to hear from, although I was very glad to hear from you. You were right, I am still in this damn hole. I expect to do something about it if I have the grades. This place is altogether dead and lifeless. Where is Gordon? You sound in pretty good shape from what I gathered from your letter.

Now that I have eaten those hot dogs I feel even worse than I did before I went to eat. The food up here is terrible.

I like your typewriter.

I am going to try to go to T.C.N. next year if they will let me in. H&H

Mother hasn't sold the house as of yet. At least I don't think so?

How about letting me know what is going on at home? I never get any news from there anymore. Is Stella married yet? Also who is? etc, etc, etc. You know the regular goodies. Do you know what ever happened to my love? (Mary). I kind of rather wish I was still going with her now. She was one hell of a good girl. I miss her every now-and-then. Oh well, let by-gones be by-gones. (Damn it!)

What are you taking? I have to put up with little odds and ends like Physics, English, History of Western Civilizations, and good ole Algebra. So far I am doing pretty good. Only flunking 4 out of 5 courses. This town wouldn't be so bad and neither would my grades if I had something to do, and wouldn't get kicked out of school for it if I did. Of course I might as well wish for the moon. My little brother is up here and he is already ready to change school. I can't say I blame him. There is no puss, can't drink, etc. Nuts ⁰⁰⁰ I am bored shitless. you know me. H2H ⁰⁰⁰⁰

Right now, for instance, I am burning string for amusement. What a life!
I can't afford to quit. Uncle Sam will be looking for me. When the 26th comes around (very soon) I will be two years away from legal liquor in Texas.

I ordered a '62 Chevy, 372cu in,
three speed, the 14th Feb. and it hasn't gotten here yet! I guess you knew I smashed my old car? Damn trees. They plant them too close now-days. Oh well, tough shit. I went down there the other day and told them they had 4 days to get it here or I would cancel my order. I bet
they made a hasty phone call after I left.

The thing that bothers me the most is that I bought the car with my own money (and you know me about money). Boy this burning string is fun. If I stay up here much longer I will start looking at boys instead of girls.

Well I guess I had better run for now. I have a lousey test tomorrow (Damn, I ran out of room) —————

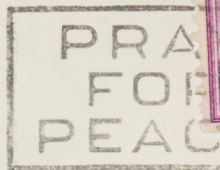

I finally decided to pursue the medical field, so —————

I know those boys you were talking about. Tell them hello for me and that I will come to see them this summer since I live in Brownsville (Spice town)

Well like I said I must screech.

Tell your mom & ~~the~~ Dad, Brother, and of course your sister hello for me. By the way has she gotten any letters looking (if possible)?
