Dear Stu -

I guess you went up to New York with Scott cause I didn't see you in F.W. when I was home. You missed a lot of fun. There was a cool smoker out at Dave Blorom's complete with strippers, the Straitjackets, blackjack + craps tables + crooked cops, not to mention just about everyone and many kegs of beer. It was good B.S.

The ranch is really cool now. New roads are in, new fence, cows, bulls, etc. The only thing we missed were the ducks. Me, Dutch + Don Kirk went out there one day (I hit 72 mph. in the "Scout") to shoot a little etc. and the only thing we found to shoot at was a beehive (Kirk got stung on top of the head) We ate up a bunch of food + left a big mess.

My mother + ~~the~~ Owlheads' mother went hog-wild on my room and put in a bunch of bamboo panelling + stuff - it looks pretty cool. When do you get home? Do you know about Ralph - the bum who lives under the bridge out by C.R.A. Well one nite after we (Ambrose, Bozeman, Buck, etc.) ran ~~at~~ out of vandalism (we painted shit all over Heights + were going to set a commode on the weather vane but couldn't find one at the junkyard) Bozeman and Ambrose went out + shot Ralph with shot guns. Buck and I watched from a distance. It was cool. Earlier in the nite Truelson had walked home for fear of getting in trouble. If you haven't seen Ralph, you missed some good B.S. He's really shitty. Here's a typical "Ralph" story:

"One day my lips were chapped really fuckin' bad. Just about then a big ol' fat cow came by and ~~flft~~!! shit right in front o' me. Well that fuckin' shit was all runny so + struck me hard in it an' smeared it all over my fuckin' "mouf" (He even has a moustache) Some guy came by and asked me why I put fuckin' shit on my mouf an' I said because my lips were chapped. I said I didn't know if it helped ~~on~~ any but it sure (here he breaks into hysterical laughter, slaps his legs etc.) as hell discourages me from lickin' 'em!
