Dear Stu,

I received your letter some time ago. Sorry I haven't answered sooner but I've been terribly busy and I went to St. Worth for four days last week, out of curiosity more than anything else. I'm sorry I did. It was a hell of a drive and I didn't accomplish anything more than a brief visit with my family. I had several dates with Mike Cosby, ~~but~~ but they were nothing to compensate for the drive.

My father is over his heart attack. He recovered well and will probably be going back to work sometime within the next few days.

Well, Stu, you needn't ever ask me again, what I'm going to do when I get out of the Navy. Take a deep breath and prepare yourself for a shock - - - I'm going to take another crack at being a student. I don't know whether or not I'm capable (of mentally) of making a go of it but I do know I'm going to give it a hell of a try. Several things have happened in the past year that have given me more than a little motivation. I am making arrangements to be discharged a little early so that I can start the ^{Spring} semester of '65. I think I'm going to North Texas.

I'm going to drive to New Orleans some week-end in the near future and we can have the little get-together we missed during the Christmas holidays. Let me know when would be the most convenient time and I'll come on over. We may have a night on the town if you can find a date for a law life sailor.
