Dear Stuart:

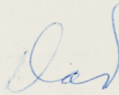

At home at last and fit as a six ninety-eight fiddle with the skin peeling off its surface like snow comes from Minnesota clouds in the winter. Two things and will conclude: Mother has decided to straighten out our situation without appearing in court -- all costs being covered for her -- and more pleasantly how we enjoyed our too-brief visit with you in New Orleans.

You must keep me in touch with some type of correspondence regarding your plans, just as we discussed; Suzie's in the same shape.

A possible third thing: enclosed is an item I cut from this morning's newspaper -- better check the whereabouts of Scott! On second thot, he could make a better one himself.

All our love and hoping to hear from you soon --

Dad
