

SHIKAR CAMP

Dear Home -

I'm now at a Rest house in Nagpur. In about an hour we will be shoving off into the Bush. We will be fifty miles from even the smallest road. I've been told to leave most of my clothes here in Nagpur before we depart. My God! I feel like a Monk who must renounce all earthly things before entering the monastery. But I am very well in health and spirits and though I know not when I will get another epistle out, so this may be my last for 25 days. Goodbye. Lovingly, Gordon
