Dear Stuart:

I think it was nice of you to write. Your words are appreciated. Your concern for some of my earliest initiatives served as a valuable lesson in refining and developing the policies of the Museum, and the institution today, we believe, is stronger and more responsive as a result.

I look forward to your program, with Scott, on October 26, and would like to invite you and Scott to be my guests for luncheon at the Kimbell buffet at 12:30 p.m. that day, with the members of the committee who run the program--Dave Hickey, Susan Freudenheim, and Mark Thistlethwaite.

Until then, with all best wishes,

Cordially,

Edmund P. Pillsbury
Director

P. S. The proposed syllabus for the Artist's Eye program is exciting, and refreshingly original and comprehensive. I will make sure all the requested works are on view for the occasion.
