Dear Stuart,

I am writing to confirm your participation at the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth on Tuesday, March 1, as part of the museum's series of Tuesday evening programs. We are looking forward to having you speak at the museum. As we discussed, the evening series, which is free and open to the public, is a key component of the Modern's educational programming.

The Modern Art Museum will pay you an honorarium of $500.00. Our understanding is that the title of your talk is "The Gentlings Pursue Their Vision of Ancient Aztec Mexico - But Is It Art?", and that it will run approximately one hour in length. I would like to have a copy of your resume as soon as possible so we can give you a proper introduction. Your program is scheduled to begin at 7:00 p.m. in the museum's solarium. The solarium has a podium with a microphone and we will provide double projection for you.

If you have any other requirements or requests, please let me know as soon as possible. If I am unavailable, you may speak with Ann Farmer, the museum's education coordinator. She is familiar with your program and is ready to be of assistance.

Again, we are delighted that you accepted our invitation and look forward to welcoming you to the Modern. Thank you for agreeing to change your date.

Sincerely yours,

Linda S. Powell
Curator of Education
