Dear Gossetts -

Sorry to hear about your eye problems, Bob. Scott and I are not lovers of strictly modern technology, but thank heavens for all the recent progress for in ~~eye~~ the medical treatment for eye disorders. Scott and I have both suffered from cataracts and had surgery several years ago. (Doctors think that we got them from glaring white paper reflection when we painted our Texas landscapes out in the open air). If we had developed cataracts in the 50's or 60's we would have faced lengthy hospital stays and huge inconvenience and pain. Today such treatment is mostly done on an out-patient basis. Scott and I wish you the best of luck!

Enclosed are five photos of the paintings Scott and I did for your ranch. Four of the paintings measure ____ x ____ unframed and ____ x ____ framed. The fifth or largest painting ~~titled~~ of the Maguey measures ____ x ____ unframed and ____ x ____ framed.

The Maguey painting is titled "Tex-Mex"
The Rock is "Rattler"
The Tomb Stone is "Westerner"
The two paintings of Gate Cow Skulls are titled "Gate Skulls I" and "Gate Skull II"
"Storm Warning" and "Ides of March"

~~Please~~ Gol

Scott and I are proud of the ensemble. We have never undertaken such a commission the coordination of five images for a single room and I bet they are going to look wonderful
