Dear Scott

I hope this letter finds you well and busy. The courtyard of the studios should be breaking through with spring color.

When last we spoke, January, your schedule was very full and time would not permit for a portrait session in February.

I would really like to see if you can spare time for me to visit this March. I've called the studios but have been unable to leave messages. I have your home number but hate to intrude private space, but I do so want a portrait by you. With that in mind, I should like to call you next week, unless I hear from you first.

Sincerely

Bobbie Ann
