Dear Committee:

I wish to tell the Portrait Committee how honored I feel to have been chosen to do the official portrait of Mr. Roach. Our photo session went extremely well. I had never met Mr. Roach before. He has a wonderful face for portraiture. He posed very naturally, and the whole photo session left me very excited that this, if I might be immodest, will not just be a good portrait but a beautiful work of art as well.

My standard procedure for portrait commissions is simple and is as follows: The price of the portrait will be $35,000 plus sales tax. We will provide a frame that will be in harmony with the two existing portraits of Mr. Tandy and Mr. West. The size of the Roach portrait when framed will be the same size as the two existing Ingram portraits, approximately 35 5/16" X 47 3/8". The interior image or the painting itself will be proportional but probably somewhat smaller than the Ingram portraits.

As with all my portrait commissions, I require a 50% non-refundable deposite before work begins. I shall work from a photo that we mutually agree upon. I understand that you wish to have the framed portrait in your hands for official presentation sometime before the end of this year. I will have the painting ready for delivery on or before December 1st. 1998. The balance will be paid upon delivery of the portrait. I might add that I have never missed a deadline nor have I ever had a portrait rejected.

As I have said, I really enjoyed meeting Mr. and Mrs. Roach. He posed beautifully and comfortably, and I really believe that this portrait is going to be something very special. I am genuinely looking forward to doing it.

Sincerely,

Scott Gentling
