

WOODROW (WOODY) M. BLAGG, JR.

11-19-46

FT. WORTH, TEXAS

Woodrow Blagg attended the Dallas Art Institute and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He has won numerous awards for his art including: the National Drawing Prize by American Artist magazine in 1970; the Sylvia G. Wexler Memorial Prize presented by the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in 1971; the Charles Topan Prize in 1972; and the P.A.F.A. Fellowship Prize.

The most recent drawings conceived by Woodrow Blagg capture his personal experiences and observations on the Waggoner Ranch in Vernon, Texas.

On June 22, 1982 Mr. Blagg was invited to the White House to present a drawing to President Reagan. The drawing, a western motif was installed at the Reagan ranch in California.

Woodrow Blagg is presently working for a large scale exhibition that is planned toward Fall 1983.
