Dear Stuart:

I sent the copy out to a professional 'proof reader' and he has suggested a good number of possible revisions.

If you wish the copy to be revised another time -- there would be a charge of $145.00 to reset the copy -- from your final typescript and to make a new set of negatives and plates.

I will pay for the approx $450.-- worth of paper - on a special mill order - since the color is my problem.

If you wish to have the text completely reset -- please send me a check for $145.00 and I will have G&S set it exactly to your new copy. However, there could be no additional rewriting without there charging us further.

I am enclosing D.L. Kent's outline of possible revisions (some can be eliminated & others would be good to make) -- compare this revision sheet with your large printed sheet.

Sincerely,

David Holman
