Dear Mr. Gabbard:

I am just confirming with you once again that the traveling exhibit of Stuart and Scott Gentling's 22 bird paintings will be on display at the Bass Performance Hall in Fort Worth on March 5th for Audubon's 100th anniversary gala.

It is our understanding that you are working with Ralph Carr to handle all of the necessary arrangements. Please let us know if there is anything that we can do.

Thank you again for your consideration.

With all best wishes,

Dear Stuart and Ralph:

Please send me the address and directions to Ms. Whitney Helder More's home. I am planning on calling guests today.

Also - please send me a list of attendees to the cocktail party and the list of dinner guests that you are inviting.

Thank you.

Carriona Glazebrook

(By the way - 10 complimentary tickets are on their way to you today.)

Consequently, I would like to have assurance that TxAS would receive 15% of all up-front revenue associated with the publication of the book. (ie. sales of prints, paintings, and further contribution solicitation will go to TxAS with the remaining 85% set aside for the book.)

This will cover start time, and other expenses associated with the project. If this is agreeable to you we will create a detailed budget as well as a detailed fundraising strategy.

The budget would include marketing, printing, etc. as well as a 5% for Audubon. We would both seek funds to launch the project cooperatively. Audubon is not in a position to loan any significant up-front costs and thus we need to bring the money in prior to spending.

Audubon will send you a monthly accounting of all revenue and expenses that are received/expended on behalf of the book project.

Once the direct expenses of the publication of the book are covered (this amount will include the 15%), Audubon would then receive 20% of the proceeds from sales of the book. This would leave the remaining 80% after expenses that will go to you and Scott.

I am also interested in getting National Audubon involved in this project. I believe that a dinner meeting on Saturday evening will be a good introduction. I also hope to interest some potential donors in Audubon in Texas.

I want to let you and Scott know that we already have 25 individuals that have requested to be a part of your private tour that evening. We presently have 150 responses to our invitation. If you have the time to call people and get a "good crowd" to this event this would be most helpful.

We wish to double this number by the end of next week.

Let me know what you think all of the above.

I look forward to speaking to you soon.
