Re: UPDATE OF BIRDS AND TEXAS

Dear Stuart,

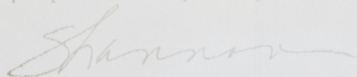

Theresa reports that she has received from the reader "a glowing recommendation to publish" the trade edition of Of Birds and Texas. Congratulations! You will hear from her soon, if you haven't heard from her already.

She will take the project to the faculty advisory committee on November 11, and because the review is positive there should be no question that they will approve it. I will send you the contracts after approval has been granted, which will avoid our having to change a few inconsistencies I found in the approval paragraph.

The unit cost of unbound sheets (plus the cost of changing the front matter and freight) is currently estimated by David and Theresa at $12.00 to $12.50. Let me know if this is okay by you.

I am working on "Audubon and Us"—I've read this several times but each time I think what a great story, well told—and will send you my edited version next week. Haven't heard from John yet but suspect I will soon.

By the way, I saw my first winter rufous-sided towhees yesterday—not quite in a pumpkin patch but certainly at the right time of year!!
