A One Act Play

Time: At Christmas time in the present

Characters;

Plot:

The story concerns a middle class family of not terrific means but of enough money to have had some contact with and to want the better things of life. They live one one of the many old middle class neighborhoods in New Orleans, a neighborhood which in its day might have been the focal point of New Orleans society in the nineties. Myra Mendville, the wife owns the house. It was one of the things that she inherited when her mother died
